

Hi,

I am writing from DK, the world's leading illustrated reference publisher and a part of the Penguin Random House group. DK publishes highly visual, photographic non-fiction books for consumers in over 87 countries and 62 languages, with offices in Delhi, London, Melbourne, Munich, New York and Toronto. These include highly-illustrated travel guides of which we have published in excess of 200 so far. Our guides are totally independent and there is no cost involved for the venues that are listed in it. You can view our travel guides at:

We are currently working on our travel guide to Bengaluru, entitled "Top 10 Bengaluru". You would be glad to know that Indian Institute of Cartoonists is being featured in this guide. To illustrate the text we would like to use some images of the same. We were wondering if it would be possible for you to send us some images of the museum which we could possibly use in our book.

By supplying these images we understand we have your consent to use these images in all editions in all forms of "Eyewitness Travel Bengaluru (including digital products based and website on Eyewitness Travel Top 10 Bengaluru) in all languages throughout the world, and that these images would come to us for free and we would not have to pay any fee for publishing these.

We look forward to seeing any possible images as soon as possible, and would be happy to answer any queries you might have regarding this publication.

Thanks & regards,
Sumita
