profile

Prashant Kulkarni, born on 17th Jan 1959, has been drawing cartoons for over a span of 30 years. He is prominently a political cartoonist and also draws cartoons on various walks of social life.

His cartooning skill was initiated in Bangalore where he studied his engineering degree. He was inspired by the doyen cartoonist Late Mr. B.V.Ramamurthy of Deccan herald. Later when he returned to Mumbai, he drew cartoons for various periodicals. Currently he is associated with Loksatta, a Marathi daily newspaper, from the Indian Express Group.

He has done a lot of research work in cartooning. 'Nivadak Marathi Vyangachitra' is a documentation of his work. This book has been honoured by the Maharashtra State Government.

He has been the President of Cartoonist Combine (Maharashtra). He has organised several workshops on cartoons in schools and NGOs. He presents a unique programme on cartooning i.e. 'Lines, Language and Laughter' comprising of audio visuals, along with live demonstrations and mimicry.

He has been awarded 3rd prize in the Maya Kamath Memorial Awards Competition-2009 which is the prestigious award for Excellence in Political Cartooning.
